Joint Master Courses (MSc)

MSc European Business and Finance

MSc International Finance

MSc International Business and Management

Developing a new generation of managers for global business

Welcome to Nottingham Business School

Thank you for your interest in our joint Masters courses. At Nottingham Business School our aim is to provide a rich learning experience that will give you a competitive edge in international business.

Once you have successfully completed one of our courses, you will have a globally recognised Masters degree issued jointly by two or more highly regarded European universities.

One of those universities will be Nottingham Trent University, home of Nottingham Business School. We have an outstanding international reputation as the Business School for business, built on a long, proud history of education and research.

The School is home to over 4,500 students and 170 academic staff and is an inspiring place to study. Importantly, there's a vibrant, international atmosphere, with 1,200 overseas students from 90 countries – all with their own distinctive backgrounds, views and experiences, reflecting the diverse global business world you will work in.

It always gives me great satisfaction to hear about our students' successes and achievements after graduation. So many go on to fulfil their ambitions and make an impressive impact in international business. I sincerely hope you will join them.

I wish you the very best of luck with your studies and I look forward to welcoming you.

Professor Baback Yazdani
Dean of Nottingham Business School

Our joint Masters courses have been tremendously successful for students from many countries, including Poland, Bulgaria, Slovakia and the Czech Republic.

The courses are delivered by NTU and a range of partner universities across Europe. We launched our first joint Masters – the MSc European Business and Finance – in 2005 with Brno University of Technology and the University of Economics in Katowice.

Since then, our collaborations have grown to offer more courses and give you the chance to experience a truly international education. Our partners now also include:

- the University of World and National Economy, Sofia, Bulgaria;
- the University of Economics, Bratislava, Slovakia;
- the University of Economics, Poznań, Poland; and
- the Estonian Business School in Tallinn.

All universities have a long-standing tradition of delivering high-quality higher education.

The courses in this brochure are built around a series of challenging modules that focus on the major themes of development in European and international business management and finance. The content draws on a wide range of academic research, allowing you to benefit from the diverse and extensive experiences of international lecturers. By studying in different languages, countries and academic environments, you will enjoy a unique learning experience and gain essential skills sought by multinational employers.

Many of our graduates have already found careers with large, well-known companies and I'm confident that, after studying with us, you will have all you need to follow in their footsteps.

Dr Emil Helienek Doc, MBA, Ing (Hons)
Nottingham Business School Academic Director for Joint Programmes (Central and Eastern Europe)

Principal Lecturer for International Business and Programme Leader / Coordinator

The benefits of a joint Masters course

- Gain a Masters degree issued by two or more respected European universities.
- Live and study in more than one country, gain new experiences and thrive in contrasting cultural and academic environments.
- Gain insights into international business that will help you stand out from other Business graduates, preparing you for a highly competitive labour market.
- Take a work placement of between three and six months to gain invaluable industry experience and develop work-based skills.

“It is clear that joint Masters courses, which entail real cooperation between European universities on all matters from course content to student accommodation, are potentially very attractive to students both within Europe and from the rest of the world.”

Eric Froment,
Former President of European University
Association

Joint MSc European Business and Finance

Overview

This two-year course will give you the skills you need to be a successful manager in a pan-European business environment.

Jointly designed by partner universities, you can choose to spend your first year at one of the following:

- Brno University of Technology, the Czech Republic;
- the University of Economics, Katowice, Poland;
- the University of National and World Economy, Sofia, Bulgaria; or
- the Estonian Business School, Tallinn.

The first half of Year Two will be at Nottingham Business School, Nottingham Trent University.

Benefits

This course will:

- give you a multicultural and multilingual experience, developing your skills to communicate effectively in academic and business environments;
- promote a critical and analytical approach to information in multicultural, multilingual business situations;
- develop your ability to design and implement a research project based on the latest knowledge and practical experience of the changing European and global business environments;
- improve your career development promotion prospects;
- sharpen your awareness and understanding of the changing international context of European business and finance; and
- develop your comprehensive knowledge and understanding of a particular area of European finance.

Induction

A full induction programme will help you settle into the course, university and country.

Teaching and learning

Informed by the traditions of the university, you can expect a unique experience wherever you study. Regardless of the country, you can expect a consistent high standard, with dynamic, stimulating lessons.

Your tutors will engage you actively in the learning process, encouraging lively discussions and reflective learning.

Modules typically adopt a workshop-style approach but can also include keynote lectures, group discussions, case studies, role play, presentations and tutorials.

Assessment

Modules are assessed through coursework, exams, presentations and projects. Feedback will support your progress.

Admission and English language requirements

To apply, you will usually be expected to have a Bachelors in Business, Finance, Management or a related discipline.

Details of our IELTS and TOEFL requirements, and other equivalent English language qualifications, are available on our website www.ntu.ac.uk/englishlanguage.

The university you study at in Year One will certify your English language standard.

Employability

There is high demand for graduates in European Business and Finance in many EU countries, particularly newer member states. For example, you could find yourself working as a middle manager developing European or international strategies or working as an independent consultant or adviser.

Our partner universities for the joint MSc European Business and Finance

The University of Economics, Katowice, Poland

UEK was established in 1936 and is currently ranked in the top five economic universities in Poland. Across four faculties there are nearly 15,000 students and 494 academic staff.

The university is an active member of numerous international associations and networks and its contribution to the economic restructuring of the region has grown enormously in the last few years.

The professors of UEK have an active voice in matters concerning regional reforms, providing expertise on economic issues and conducting influential research.

The University of National and World Economy, Sofia, Bulgaria

UNWE celebrates its 100th birthday in 2019 and is the oldest higher economics school in Bulgaria and South Eastern Europe. The university has about 500 highly qualified academic staff, including 300 professors and associate professors.

Every year UNWE takes part in more than 150 national and international projects. Many of the research projects are financed by the National Scientific Research fund. Dozens of scientific events, including many international ones, take place here each year.

Brno University of Technology, the Czech Republic

BUT is the second largest technical university in the Czech Republic, and the second oldest university in the country, founded in 1899. It is ranked by the Financial Times among the top 500 universities in the world and offers Bachelors, Masters and PhD courses.

Across eight faculties, the university has 1,139 full-time academic staff, with 149 professors and 798 PhD students. BUT has a strong research portfolio: it's home to a national aerospace research centre and co-owns the Brno Centre for European Studies along with the city and six Brno universities.

The Estonian Business School, Tallinn

Founded in 1988, the Estonian Business School is the oldest private university business school in the Baltic states, offering Bachelors, Masters and Doctoral programmes in English and Estonian.

Encouraging close interaction between the 1,500 students and teachers, the School prides itself on close links to the business world, giving students academic and practical experience.

The school can be found in the centre of Tallinn, one of the best-preserved medieval European cities and also the 2011 European Capital of Culture.

What our students say

Zanda Petrova, University of Economics, Poland

"The joint MSc was an absolutely amazing opportunity and I would recommend it to other students. The skills and critical thinking I've developed are highly appreciated in the job market and put me in a great position to offer extended knowledge to prospective employers.

"The ability to cope with hard business issues and a high level of English helped me join the well-known multinational company Ernst & Young. I'm working with a team of experts, successfully providing fresh input into their existing work and procedures. The hours I spent in Nottingham and Poland have definitely paid off."

Michael Dzierzega, University of Economics, Poland

"The best decision I made was to take this course. The experience allowed me to develop my knowledge and meet many new friends from around the world.

"The course covered essential aspects of leadership and management including how to focus on competitive strategy and business goals, how to be an effective leader to drive future company strategy, how to build company culture and, most importantly, how to equip an organisation for profitable growth.

"Since completing my studies I've started my own company, Global BD Trading, with a friend from NTU. Our success and confidence is a result of hard work and thanks must go to our tutors who showed us what business is really like. I thank NTU for the best experience of my life!"

Magdalena Stoyanova, University of National and World Economy, Bulgaria

"Completing this course was a great personal achievement. I've gained a lot of academic knowledge, which has improved my professional performance and furthered my career.

"The course gave me more in-depth, practical knowledge about international business practices and finance. This has given me the confidence to be more competitive in the labour market.

"In the future I'd like to develop as a successful business consultant and help companies be more competitive and successful."

Michaela Šimonová, Brno University of Technology, the Czech Republic

"This course was a fantastic opportunity to learn and develop in many different ways. I'm grateful for the chance and would recommend it to anyone who enjoys learning in an international environment.

"Thanks to the skills and experience I've gained, I'm now working for PricewaterhouseCoopers Audit, where I'm able to put what I've learned into practice every day."

Dudrová Lenka, Brno University of Technology, the Czech Republic

"The time I spent in Nottingham was an amazing experience. The study methods used at Nottingham Business School are excellent, with a strong emphasis on group work, class interaction and discussion.

"The knowledge and language skills I developed gave me a distinct competitive advantage and played a major part in me being offered a position with ČSOB, an international bank."

Joint MSc International Finance

Overview

This two-year course helps you turn theory into practice, developing your skills and incorporating international and multicultural perspectives. A dissertation encourages you to produce applied research in an area of your interest.

Benefits

The course will help you:

- demonstrate professional management knowledge and skills;
- express yourself with confidence;
- demonstrate excellent analytical, problem-solving and numerical skills;
- give presentations with confidence in management settings; and
- develop your capacity for independent critical thought and self-directed learning.

Year One of the course takes place at the University of Economics in Bratislava (UEB), Slovakia. It is compatible with the country's magister or engineer degrees, which is a condition of the Slovak Ministry of Education for Masters level programmes.

The first half and last quarter of Year Two is also spent at UEB, with the third quarter at NTU.

At Nottingham Business School, you will join our own MSc International Finance students, leading to a more diverse and higher quality learning experience for everyone.

Induction

When you come to NTU in Year Two, we will help you settle in with a thorough induction designed to introduce you to our academic practices and processes, living and studying in the UK and the range of specialist support available.

Teaching and learning

Informed by the traditions of the University, you can expect a unique experience wherever you study. Regardless of the country, you can expect a consistent high standard, with dynamic, stimulating lessons.

Your tutors will engage you actively in the learning process, encouraging lively discussions and reflective learning.

Our partner university for the joint MSc International Finance

University of Economics, Bratislava, Slovakia

Specialising in Economics, Business and Management, UEB is the largest and most comprehensive university in these areas. It is also the largest centre of basic and applied economics research in Slovakia. In 2010 UEB celebrated its 70th anniversary and today is home to almost 12,000 students. The University is a member of numerous international organisations including:

- the European University Association;
- the International Association of Universities;
- the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business, the European Foundation for Management Development;
- the Consortium of International Double Degrees; and
- the European Doctoral Programmes Association in Management and Business Administration.

There is a genuine multicultural environment, with students able to study more than 100 modules in English, German, French, Spanish or Russian.

What our students say

Romana Bubenikova

“Thanks to Nottingham Business School I learned to support my ideas and opinions, and work with people from different countries with different attitudes and experiences. The international aspect helped me understand various business issues and resulted in job offers from companies such as PwC, KPMG and Deloitte.”

Simona Ratkošová

“The system of study at NTU was quite different to how it is in my home country. We were given a lot of space for self-reflection, which I found very useful. Before I left Slovakia I was concerned about moving abroad to complete my MSc. It turned out to be the best decision I’ve ever made, improving my English and providing me with knowledge and skills that I now use in my current role as an accounting analyst for IBM ISC.”

Joint MSc International Business and Management

Overview

This two-year course, created by NTU and the University of Economics in Poznań, Poland, reflects the main strategic issues in international business and management. It will develop your knowledge and understanding and is aimed at creating managers capable of working in a multinational business environment.

The diversity at Nottingham Business School provides a stimulating atmosphere for you to learn about cross-cultural management and share different perspectives.

Benefits

This course has a growing reputation and will:

- sharpen your critical and analytical approach to multicultural business situations;
- develop your ability to design and implement a research project based on relevant knowledge of the changing international business environment;
- improve your career development and promotion prospects;
- enhance your awareness and understanding of the changing contexts of international business and management; and
- develop your comprehensive knowledge of major contemporary business issues.

Induction

To introduce you to the course and to studying and living in a different country, you will take part in a thorough induction programme.

Teaching and learning

Focused on the needs of a culturally diverse student cohort, our teaching and learning is based on the principles of:

- encouraging constructive learning through a student-centred learning environment;
- drawing upon your experiences through interactive workshops and tutorials, and not over-relying on large group lectures;
- seeing cultural diversity as a way for everyone to learn; and
- offering a range of learning experiences, including industry placements.

Admission and English language requirements

To apply, you will usually be expected to have a Bachelors in Business, Finance, Management or a related discipline.

In addition, we expect you to have:

- an ability to communicate effectively in written and spoken English within a business context;
- a willingness and ability to undertake critical academic study of international business issues;
- a willingness to develop and apply cross-cultural management skills and abilities; and
- a high level of motivation and commitment towards international business, strategy, entrepreneurship and career development.

You will normally sit an entrance exam at the University of Economics in Poznań,

Details of our IELTS and TOEFL requirements, and other equivalent English language qualifications, are available on our website www.ntu.ac.uk/englishlanguage.

There will be no standard advanced entry route for holders of a particular qualification. The final decision of acceptance and enrolment into the second year of study is made by Nottingham Business School.

Our partner university for the joint MSc International Business and Management

The University of Economics, Poznań, Poland

Established in 1926, the Poznań University of Economics is one of the oldest and most prestigious economic universities in Poland. It specialises in the education of highly qualified managers, economic experts and administration personnel capable of operating successfully in global business.

In particular the University attaches great importance to the quality of education and has numerous awards including:

- accreditation from the State Accreditation Committee for programmes in the faculties of Economics and Management;
- certificates from the EPOQS Foundation for the Promotion and Accreditation of Economic Education; and
- the ISO 9001:2000 certificate (the only one in Poland) for the Faculty of Commodity Science.

Its reputation is built on high educational standards consistent with the world's latest teaching methods and business trends.

The university's high academic ranking is, ultimately, down to its teaching staff. There are over 600 academics, including around 130 professors; many are widely recognised, eminent scientists and business practitioners.

What our students say

Mirella Szulc

"The Masters was a perfect opportunity to get practical and cross-cultural experience; experience which has helped me a lot in my new job in the procurement department at Jamiks Kids Fashionas. I am responsible for searching for new suppliers and negotiating contract terms and conditions.

"Studying at NTU enabled me to enhance my speaking skills considerably as well as get more practical experience. One of the most challenging and interesting tasks was working with students from all over the world. It showed me that if you work in a multicultural environment you should be very flexible and understanding. It's a great experience that is impossible to reach in any other way.

"Living in Nottingham was just great. It's definitely a student city with a lovely atmosphere and lots of interesting events that are really worth participating in. I was also impressed with the University's City site – it has an excellent location with amazing buildings, which are within seconds of each other. Studying in NTU was an absolutely inspirational and rewarding learning experience."

Why study at Nottingham Business School?

In the heart of a vibrant, student city, NTU is a modern and multicultural institution. There are over 23,000 students at NTU including over 2,900 international students from 104 different countries.

NTU is a forward thinking, entrepreneurial university that has also been working in China to develop employability in the higher education sector.

The University's facilities include high quality student accommodation, medical centres, libraries, banks and excellent sport facilities.

Nottingham Business School at Nottingham Trent University has an outstanding reputation built on over 30 years' experience.

The School's reputation continues to go from strength to strength thanks to our consistent performance in terms of accreditation, student achievement, applied research and impressive client base of leading businesses. With 94% of Nottingham Trent University's graduates* employed or engaged in further study within six months of leaving, NTU is one of the top universities in England and Wales for its graduate employment rate.

(*of those available for work, HESA DHLE survey 2010-11)

Nottingham Business School has a rapidly growing international profile and is actively pursuing international accreditation. The School's international standing has already been recognised by the EDUniversal International Scientific Committee, which has awarded Nottingham Business School three palmes, indicative of national excellence and regional influence.

The School has a series of academic cooperation agreements in place, many with EQUIS and AACSB accredited schools. Active partnership agreements exist with 40 institutions (based in 20 countries) including the USA, Japan, China, Thailand, Australia, Hong Kong and multiple EU states.

Facilities

We've invested millions of pounds to create what we believe to be the finest city centre campus in the UK. At the heart of this is the redevelopment of two iconic and historic buildings – Newton and Arkwright. In addition to lecture theatres, catering and IT resources, the building houses a 'one-stop-shop' giving NTU students access to a comprehensive range of support services covering everything from enrolment to careers advice, counselling to volunteering.

NTU Library

Whether you study full or part time, all students have access to our outstanding libraries. With over 400,000 books, 28,000 journals, thousands of hours of audio-visual material and an array of special collections, all the information you need is right here for you. Many of these resources are available online and can be accessed from anywhere in the world. Our on-campus computer facilities are also excellent and plentiful, with Internet access at all terminals and some available 24 hours a day. You can also access learning resources and network with fellow students and tutors via our cutting-edge virtual learning environment, NOW (NTU Online Workspace).

Support

We want all students to feel comfortable in our well-supported environment. As well as day-to-day support from your lecturers, we also offer a wide range of support services for any specific concerns you may have. We have specialist advisers available in careers, finance, counselling, disabilities and international support among others.

Your personal tutor and mentor will be on hand to help you throughout your studies and support you should you have any particular academic issues or concerns.

Nottingham: the student experience

City life

As a Masters student at Nottingham Business School you will experience life in a lively, cosmopolitan city situated in the heart of England. Being host to two of the UK's largest and most popular universities, Nottingham has a student population of 60,000 which means that the city is geared towards meeting your needs.

Nottingham is a stimulating place to live and study. It is a vibrant cultural centre which boasts some of the best art galleries, theatres, museums, cinemas and live performance venues in the East Midlands.

Sporting interests are well catered for too, with the region offering more sporting facilities per head of population than any other European city, including international venues such as the National Water Sports Centre at Holme Pierrepont, Nottingham Tennis Centre, Trent Bridge Cricket Ground and the Capital FM Arena Nottingham.

Within Nottingham's city centre, you will find more than 1,300 retail outlets and over 350 restaurants, clubs and bars.

Culture

Nottingham is an international city of culture, in which on any given night of the week you could find yourself experiencing world cuisine, a huge variety of music, and everything from cabaret and stand-up comedy to Shakespearean theatre.

Nottingham Trent University has a long history of supporting the arts and hosts a number of major international festivals, including NOW and Sensitive Skin.

Other annual festivals and celebrations which contribute to life in Nottingham include the October Goose Fair, one of the largest and oldest travelling fairs in Europe; the August Riverside Festival; the Robin Hood Pageant; and the GameCity festival of computer gaming.

The Broadway Cinema organises a range of festivals featuring international film and other specialist subjects.

Transport links

Nottingham is an exciting city for students, with its bustling shopping areas, sites of historical interest, great entertainment venues and surrounding countryside.

It is also a major UK city close to an international airport and with excellent transport links to locations around the UK, enabling easy access to other major airports.

- East Midlands Airport is 15 miles away, half an hour from Nottingham by road.
- Manchester Airport can be accessed via the National Express coach service, which leaves for Nottingham from Terminals 1 and 2.
- From Birmingham Airport, you can take a taxi to New Street Station in Birmingham and then take a direct train to Nottingham.
- There is a direct coach service called Flightlink which runs every two hours from Heathrow and Gatwick Airports directly to Nottingham.

Studying in the UK

Accommodation

As students on the joint degree only study for part of a year in Nottingham, unfortunately it is not possible to live in student halls of residence. Nottingham Trent University's Accommodation Service can however provide information about a range of accommodation available in Nottingham. All accommodation is of a high standard with options to suit every budget and is safe and secure. Many students choose to live in the private sector; we only advertise accredited private sector accommodation on our website so you can be sure you are making the right choices.

Please visit www.ntu.ac.uk/accommodation for more information.

Cost of living

In addition to tuition fees we estimate that you will need approximately £450 – £500 per month for living expenses.

Visa / immigration requirements for non-EU residents

Once you receive an offer of a place to study at Nottingham Business School it is essential that you take the appropriate steps to ensure that you comply with the British immigration requirements for students entering the UK.

International students (non-EU) require a visa, an Entry Clearance Certificate, or a Home Office letter of consent to come and study in the UK. Application should be made to the British Embassy or British Consulate in the student's home country before coming to the UK. Nottingham Business School will supply a letter of invitation where necessary.

Working in the UK during and after your studies

An increasing number of international students take advantage of the part-time job opportunities that are available in Nottingham while they study. Working part-time enables you to earn some extra cash, improve your English and learn about British working life. It can also be a great addition to your CV. When you come to the end of your studies and if you would like to stay in the UK to work, there are a number of schemes available. Visit our website www.ntu.ac.uk/international for more details.
