

Membership in Organizations

The organization of international collaboration is developed by contacts with related Departments and Faculties and conclusion of agreements.

All the Departments cooperate with related Departments from prestigious foreign universities and they are also members of international professional organizations.

The international collaboration of UNWE with foreign universities is implemented by:

- students and lecturers mobility
- creation of common educational programmes including programmes for postgraduate education
- joint publishing of articles and results from scientific researches
- participation in elaboration of joint research projects, scientific conferences and exchange of information for scientific events of mutual interest as well as in European educational and research programmes, in prestigious international organizations, etc.
